SUPERIOR COURT OF NEW JERSEY
LAW DIVISION – CIVIL PART
ATLANTIC COUNTY

DEVON TYLER BARBER,
Plaintiff, Pro Se,

v.

TOWNSHIP OF HAMILTON, et al.,
Defendants.

Docket No.: ATL-L-003252-25

REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE OF OFFICIAL STATE OVERSIGHT REPORTS

(N.J.R.E. 201)

Plaintiff Devon Tyler Barber respectfully requests that this Court take judicial notice of the following official publications of the State of New Jersey, pursuant to N.J.R.E. 201(b), as adjudicative facts not subject to reasonable dispute because they are derived from authoritative public records issued by constitutionally authorized State oversight bodies.

I. MATERIALS SUBJECT TO JUDICIAL NOTICE

Plaintiff requests judicial notice of the existence, issuance, and contents (but not the ultimate truth of every underlying factual assertion) of the following public records:

1. Office of the State Comptroller (OSC) — Police Accountability Project
Supplemental Report (January 9, 2025)

Title: Hundreds of NJ Police Departments Wasted More Than $1 Million on Private Police Training That Promoted Unconstitutional Tactics

URL: <https://www.nj.gov/comptroller/reports/2025/approved/20250109.shtml>

This report identifies 377 New Jersey government entities, including Hamilton Township, Galloway Township, and South Bound Brook Borough, that expended public funds on Street

Cop Training between January 1, 2019 and March 13, 2023, and documents findings that the training promoted tactics described by the Office of the State Comptroller as dangerous, discriminatory, and likely unconstitutional.

2. Office of the State Comptroller — Police Accountability Project Report (December 2023)

(Referenced and incorporated by the January 9, 2025 Supplemental Report.)

This report documents deficiencies in the oversight and regulation of private, post-academy police training in New Jersey and identifies constitutional concerns associated with Street

Cop Training materials, including tactics described as dangerous, discriminatory, and inconsistent with established legal standards.

3. Office of the State Auditor — Department of Law and Public Safety

Attorney General's Law Enforcement Forfeiture Account (AGLEFA) Audit

Audit Period: July 1, 2021 – June 30, 2025

Auditor: David J. Kaschak, State Auditor

This audit identifies systemic deficiencies in the management and transparency of civil asset forfeiture funds, including accounting failures, misuse of funds intended for training, inadequate tracking of non-cash assets such as vehicles, and long-unresolved deficiencies previously identified as early as 2010.

4. Appendix A to the OSC January 9, 2025 Supplemental Report identifies Hamilton Township, Galloway Township, and South Bound Brook Borough as entities that expended public funds on Street Cop Training during the relevant period.

II. BASIS FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

Under N.J.R.E. 201(b), a court may judicially notice facts that are:

1. Generally known within the court's territorial jurisdiction; or
2. Capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned.

The above materials:

- Are official publications of the State of New Jersey;
- Were issued by constitutionally authorized oversight offices;
- Are publicly available on official State websites; and
- Have been acknowledged and cited by the Attorney General and members of the Legislature.

Courts routinely take judicial notice of:

- Auditor reports;
- Comptroller findings; and
- Government accountability publications, without the need for foundational testimony.

III. LIMITED PURPOSE OF NOTICE

Plaintiff does not offer these materials to establish that any individual officer committed misconduct in this case solely because of the reports.

Rather, Plaintiff offers these materials for the limited and proper purposes of establishing:

1. The existence of documented, statewide deficiencies in:
  - Police training oversight;
  - Supervision;
  - Asset tracking; and
  - Civil forfeiture transparency;
2. The institutional environment in which municipal law-enforcement agencies operated during the period relevant to Plaintiff's claims; and
3. The foreseeability of constitutional violations where training and oversight failures have been formally identified by State authorities.

This constitutes a restrained and proper use of judicial notice.

IV. RELEVANCE TO THIS ACTION

Plaintiff's claims involve:

- Vehicle seizure and continued retention;
- Law-enforcement discretion;
- Procedural due process;
- Proportionality; and
- Municipal supervision and training.

The noticed materials are relevant to:

- Evaluating assertions of good-faith safeguards;
- Assessing claims of isolated error versus systemic risk; and
- Contextualizing municipal responsibility under Monell v. Department of Social Services, 436 U.S. 658 (1978), and analogous New Jersey doctrines.

Procedural Context (Offered Solely for Background; Not for Merits Determination).

Plaintiff further notes the following contextual facts for case-management, discovery preservation, and to explain the present state of the record—without seeking any adjudication of those matters within this Request for Judicial Notice:

1. South Bound Brook proceedings. South Bound Brook Borough appears in Appendix A during the same general period in which Plaintiff's driver's license suspension arose from remote proceedings conducted without counsel present and without a meaningful explanation or understanding of plea consequences. This is offered solely as background context relevant to Plaintiff's related procedural posture and is not advanced as proof of any disputed fact herein.
2. Related proceedings involving Officer Boyd. Plaintiff provides notice that separate proceedings involving Defendant Officer Stephen Boyd and law-enforcement conduct occurring in 2024 are currently pending on appeal. Plaintiff does not seek adjudication of those matters in this action, but identifies their existence solely for discovery preservation and institutional context.

3. OPRA access history. Plaintiff timely requested body-worn camera footage through OPRA on May 9, 2024. The request was not denied on the merits, but was conditioned on payment of a special service charge that Plaintiff did not pay. Plaintiff states this procedural history solely to explain the absence of body-worn camera footage in the present record.

V. RELIEF REQUESTED

Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court:

1. Take judicial notice of the above-identified State oversight reports pursuant to N.J.R.E. 201; and
2. Permit Plaintiff to reference these materials as institutional context in support of pending and future motions.

VI. RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

Plaintiff reserves all rights to:

- Seek discovery related to training, retraining, supervision, and compliance;
- Supplement the record as permitted by rule; and
- Assert additional claims consistent with the evidence.

Respectfully submitted,

Supplemental Report on the High Price of Unregulated Private Police Training

Introduction

On December 6, 2023, the New Jersey Office of the State Comptroller (OSC) published its report, "The High Price of Unregulated Private Police Training to New Jersey" (the December 2023 Report). That Report focused on the 2021 Street Cop Conference hosted by the private police training company Street Cop Training (Street Cop) that was held in Atlantic City, New Jersey, between October 3, 2021 and October 8, 2021 (2021 Conference). As detailed in this report, OSC's investigation uncovered alarming deficiencies in the police training provided at the 2021 Street Cop Conference and a dangerous and potentially costly gap in the oversight of private post-academy police training in New Jersey.

Since the publication of the December 2023 Report, OSC and the Police Accountability Project have received requests from organizations, out-of-state agencies, and individuals across the country for additional information about its findings. The widespread response to this report has reaffirmed that the lack of regulation of private police training is an issue that impacts not only New Jersey, but law enforcement agencies and communities nationwide.

After this report was published, the New Jersey Office of the Attorney General acted swiftly to develop a retraining program for attendees of the 2021 Conference. On February 18, 2024, the Attorney General issued a Memorandum directing "all current law-enforcement officers who attended, or in any way participated in, the October 2021 Street Cop Training" to attend a three-hour retraining session. He also required officers to "self-report" their attendance at or involvement with the 2021 Conference, and those who failed to do so or failed to attend the retraining could be subject to discipline. [\[1\]](#) On March 14, 2024, more than 240 officers in New Jersey who attended the 2021 Conference were retrained. Discussing this response in an interview, the Attorney General emphasized that it had now been made "very clear to all 38,000 sworn officers and their leadership that no one should be attending Street Cop Training in the State of New Jersey." [\[2\]](#)

In continuing to investigate, OSC received and reviewed thousands of additional documents from Street Cop and other sources. Based on this information, OSC was able to compile a more comprehensive list of police departments and law enforcement agencies in New Jersey that used public funds to pay for training provided by Street Cop between January 2019 and March 2023. Among other things, the documents reviewed support Street Cop's previous assertion that public funds are the primary source of funding for officers' attendance at its training classes and the 2021 Conference. The documents also included a significant amount of information about public funds spent on Street Cop training by out-of-state law enforcement agencies.

In light of the significant public interest in disclosing this information and to further promote transparency and accountability, OSC has determined it is necessary to publish this supplemental report. [\[3\]](#) OSC also reiterates its recommendations from the original December 2023 Report and provides supplemental recommendations below to address its subsequent findings.

Supplemental Findings

A. Over one million dollars in public funds in New Jersey was spent on Street Cop training courses and events between January 2019 and March 2023.

Over one million dollars in public funds was spent by police departments and law enforcement agencies in New Jersey on courses and events hosted by Street Cop training between January 1, 2019 and March 13, 2023. This one million dollars represents at least 377 police departments and law enforcement agencies from New Jersey that spent some amount of public funds, predominantly for tuition costs, on Street Cop training during that timeframe. [\[4\]](#) This list includes municipalities from all 21 counties in New Jersey. [\[5\]](#) It also includes county and state agencies (including New Jersey State Police), as well as public universities and interstate agencies that provided some amount of public funds to Street Cop. [\[6\]](#)

For a list of the government entities in New Jersey that spent public funds to send their officers to Street Cop training, see Appendix A to this supplemental report.

B. At least 32 departments and agencies in New Jersey spent additional public funds on Street Cop training after having an officer attend the 2021 Street Cop Conference.

OSC found that at least 32 New Jersey police departments and law enforcement agencies who had officers confirmed as having attended the 2021 Street Cop Conference continued to spend public funds on Street Cop training courses or events. In other words, because the officers in attendance at the 2021 Conference, many of whom were supervisors, failed to recognize or report that the training they received was problematic, many of their departments and agencies continued to spend public funds on courses and events hosted by the company. [7] Even state agencies were not immune from this problem. The State of New Jersey spent over $3,000 for officers from three state agencies to attend additional training provided by Street Cop after the 2021 Conference, where not a single officer reported anything of concern. [8]

As discussed more fully in OSC's December 2023 Report, continuing to send officers to this kind of training could have implications under the New Jersey Law Prohibiting Discrimination, the New Jersey State Policy Prohibiting Discrimination in the Workplace, and other laws, directives, and policies intended to address these concerns.

For a list of law enforcement agencies that spent public funds to send their officers to Street Cop training after having an officer attend the 2021 Street Cop Conference, see Appendix B to this supplemental report.

C. Twenty New Jersey officers were registered to attend the 2024 Street Cop Conference.

Street Cop's records indicated that officers from New Jersey attended the 2024 Street Cop Conference even after it was made clear to them by the New Jersey Attorney General that, due to the problems identified with the training, they should not be attending Street Cop courses going forward. Despite this clear instruction, at least 20 New Jersey officers appeared on Street Cop's registration lists for the 2024 Street Cop Conference, which was held in Florida in April. This included New Jersey law enforcement officers from multiple municipal police departments, one county agency, and one state agency in New Jersey.

Some of those New Jersey officers came from departments and agencies that attended the 2021 Street Cop Conference in Atlantic City or that regularly attended other Street Cop training classes. Notably, nine of these officers used their official law enforcement email addresses to register for the 2024 Conference. OSC did not confirm attendance or whether public funds were spent to send them or if the officers paid for the training themselves. Both are problematic under the circumstances.

Given the serious implications of this information, the names of these officers and their departments and agencies have been provided to the Attorney General's Office for further investigation or action, as needed.

D. Street Cop's records indicate that problematic training and content was not limited to the 2021 Conference.

Given the extent of the unacceptable content at the 2021 Conference, and the fact that Street Cop training classes are typically paid for by an officer's sending agency, OSC sought to understand whether other trainings provided by Street Cop raised similar concerns. OSC has now reviewed a small sample of additional video clips of other classes hosted by Street Cop, as well as other documents, class surveys, and records from the company. While OSC has not been able to view video footage from all of the events and courses that New Jersey law enforcement officers have attended with Street Cop training since 2019, OSC found compelling evidence that the content of the 2021 Conference was largely representative of the company's training style. [9]

The information reviewed also presented additional concerns about New Jersey law enforcement officers' attendance at Street Cop trainings. One email exchange that OSC reviewed suggested that Street Cop would be willing to assist officers in hiding their attendance or non-attendance at Street Cop courses or events, if that request was made by the officer-attendee. In 2020, a company employee or instructor wrote they might have to deal with a law enforcement agency that "has told their people not to come to our training and could give them a hard time," lamenting that they "don't need guys who are trying to better themselves getting their balls busted at work." The same company employee or instructor also wrote that if an officer was registered to attend one of the company's courses, but ultimately did not attend, Street Cop would not disclose that information if contacted by the officer's department or agency regarding attendance.

Even more troubling, the new information raised red flags about Street Cop's instructors who are active law enforcement officers in New Jersey. Prior to and after OSC published its December 2023 Report, there were multiple communications from Street Cop instructors, including those that are active New Jersey law enforcement, to Street Cop administrative staff attempting to hide their involvement with the company and keep their training materials from getting "out there." In one instance, an instructor who is an active state trooper in New Jersey requested to continue to sell his on-demand courses through the company, but without having it publicly advertised on the company's website to "avoid any scrutiny from NJ." [10] OSC also became aware of multiple instances in which police departments or other agencies or entities had requested case law or other materials from Street Cop related to defending themselves in litigation or in support of the training that their officers had received from the company. One department that operates in New Jersey requested information from the company in 2023 because they were "working on defending officers in a lawsuit."

E. Nationally, 49 states spent public funds to send their officers to Street Cop training courses and events between January 2019 and March 2023.

In the course of its continuing investigation and in searching for information relevant to New Jersey, OSC encountered documents and records that pertained to out-of-state law enforcement agencies. OSC found records which indicated that 49 states, including New Jersey, provided some amount of public funds to Street Cop from January 1, 2019 to March 13, 2023. It appears that these funds came from at least 2,721 government entities nationwide. The only state not represented in the records that OSC reviewed was Hawaii.

OSC's statutes direct OSC to make referrals to "other appropriate authorities for further civil or administrative action." See N.J.S.A. 52:15C-12. In view of the importance of OSC's findings in the December 2023 Report and in this report, OSC has published the list of government entities on the OSC website as a public referral. This will allow any and all appropriate out-of-state authorities to confirm officer attendance and take any other action deemed necessary.

For the national list of government entities that appear to have sent public funds to Street Cop between January 1, 2019 and March 13, 2023, see Appendix C to this supplemental report.

Supplemental Recommendations

Given these supplemental findings, OSC has made additional referrals to the Office of the Attorney General and Division on Civil Rights. OSC also reiterates its previous recommendations as set out in the December 2023 Report, including the recommendation that post-academy police training should be regulated. Multiple police departments emphasized to OSC that they were unaware of the deficiencies with the training provided by Street Cop and lacked effective mechanisms and resources to vet appropriate police training for their officers. This further underscores that there is a need for a dedicated entity to oversee post-academy training, including establishing uniform standards and reviewing and approving training courses provided by private companies, instructors, and vendors who receive public funds in New Jersey. OSC also extends its previous recommendation about the need to retrain New Jersey law enforcement attendees of the 2021 Conference to apply to all attendees of other Street Cop training classes.

Footnotes

[1] According to the February 18, 2024 memorandum from the Attorney General to all New Jersey law enforcement, the retraining was to include “legal training on the Fourth Amendment and the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination,” as well as “discussion between the Attorney General and guest presenters who will speak about their experience as survivors of law enforcement shootings.”

[2] Attorney General Matthew J. Platkin discussed in a CBS NY television interview the response by the NJ Office of Attorney General to the findings in OSC’s December 2023 Report. See <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=l8lhimw84E8>.

[3] OSC sent a discussion draft of this Supplemental Report to Street Cop and to the Office of the Attorney General, as well as notice to county, municipal, university, and interstate law enforcement agencies throughout New Jersey that are named in Appendix A or B.

[4] Records OSC reviewed revealed that ten additional law enforcement officers from New Jersey appear to have attended the 2021 Street Cop Conference that were not included in documents previously provided to OSC. The additional names have been provided to the Attorney General’s Office to ensure an appropriate response to the extent that these officers did not self-report their attendance.

[5] Some police departments in New Jersey are part of shared services agreements to provide services to two or more municipalities. For this reason, the list of government entities that spent public funds on Street Cop training does not necessarily reflect all of the municipalities in New Jersey that are impacted by having officers trained by the company.

[6] It is important to note that some agencies may have sent a single officer to train with Street Cop during this timeframe. This was the case with one state university’s police department, which reported to OSC that it only sent a single officer in 2019 and that officer is no longer employed by the university. By contrast, OSC found that other agencies repeatedly sent multiple officers to attend Street Cop training classes over the same time period.

[7] Notably, a Camden County-based police department reached out to OSC to report the substantial efforts it has undertaken to address concerns about attendance by its officers at Street Cop training classes and events. These efforts included creating a customized remedial training program within the department that went beyond the retraining mandated by the Attorney General, retraining all officers from the department who attended any Street Cop training course in addition to the 2021 Conference, and implementing command reviews of private police training vendors attended by their officers, among other measures.

[8] Records reviewed by OSC reflect that, since 2018, the State of New Jersey has spent over $10,000 to send law enforcement officers from New Jersey State Police (NJSP), the New Jersey Department of Human Services, and the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection - State Park Police to Street Cop training courses and events.

[9] As noted in OSC’s December 2023 Report, Street Cop itself represented in a sworn court filing in a lawsuit against OSC that the Conference was “standard fare” for the company. The CEO of Street Cop also made comments during his presentation at the 2021 Conference that he “stick[s] to [his] program” and that his presentation—that was found to include numerous discriminatory and harassing remarks about protected categories and legally incorrect statements about the import of a suspect’s refusal to consent to a search—would act as a “good refresher, a good reminder” for those who had seen it before.

[10] Records reviewed by OSC reflect that, in early 2022, the trooper was given approval by NJSP to teach with Street Cop. That approval was not revoked by NJSP until the end of November 2023—just over a week before OSC published its initial report. In denying continuing approval for the trooper to subcontract as an instructor with Street Cop, NJSP explained “there is a conflict of interest ethically in the opinions and comments that have been made by some Street Cop instructors and opinions that have been previously publicly endorsed by Street Cop Training.” Because the “views that have been discussed touched on discriminatory, harassing, and lewd behaviors as well as being contradictory to state mandated training and policing initiatives,” NJSP found the training and approval of outside employment through Street Cop Training by NJSP employees to be inconsistent with both NJSP and Attorney General standards of conduct and the State Uniform Ethics Code.

Hundreds of NJ Police Departments Wasted More Than $1 Million on Private Police Training That Promoted Unconstitutional Tactics

A supplemental report by the Office of State Comptroller finds far more police departments in New Jersey – and across the country – paid for Street Cop Training than previously known. »

Posted on - 01/9/2025

TRENTON—A report finds that 377 New Jersey police departments and law enforcement agencies together paid more than $1 million for private police training hosted by Street Cop Training, a company previously found to have taught discriminatory and likely unconstitutional tactics, according to a supplemental report by the Office of the State Comptroller (OSC).

A December 2023 report by OSC's Police Accountability Project revealed that Street Cop Training's 2021 training conference, attended by nearly 1,000 officers, many from New Jersey, taught dangerous, improper, and likely illegal policing tactics. As a result, the New Jersey Attorney General required that all New Jersey attendees be retrained and said New Jersey officers should not attend any Street Cop Training courses and events in the future.

OSC's new, supplemental report was based on a review of thousands of documents, including many produced by Street Cop after protracted litigation. OSC found that police departments from all 21 New Jersey counties, as well as from public universities, and state-wide, county, and interstate agencies, spent more than $1 million in public funds on Street Cop Training courses and events from December 1, 2019 through March 13, 2023. Records revealed that at least 20 New Jersey officers apparently disregarded the Attorney General's instruction and registered for the 2024 Street Cop Conference in Florida. (OSC has made referrals to the Attorney General.)

Overall, 2,721 government entities from 49 states, including New Jersey, have paid for Street Cop Training courses and events, OSC found. OSC has published the list of entities as a public referral.

"Our original report exposed the dangerous gap in regulation and oversight of private, post-academy police training in New Jersey. This supplemental report shows the problem is bigger than we previously reported, and it has not gone away," said Acting State Comptroller Kevin Walsh. "When there are hundreds of law enforcement agencies spending public funds on clearly subpar training, and some are even repeat customers, the risks to public safety are high."

"It is critical that the training our law enforcement officers receive corresponds to the directives, policies, and best practices that have been implemented. I commend the Office of the State Comptroller and Acting Comptroller Kevin Walsh for investigating and bringing to light the use of public funds on trainings that endorse unconstitutional policing tactics, glorification of violence, and denigration of women and people of color," said Attorney General Matthew J. Platkin. "In response to the original report by the Office of the State Comptroller, I mandated all law enforcement personnel who attended Street Cop Training to receive supplemental instruction. My office also ordered that LPS not fund any attendance at Street Cop Training and encouraged all local law enforcement to cease participation as well. In addition, I also directed the Division on Civil Rights (DCR) to review the report for any potential civil rights violations. The updated information in the recent OSC report will be referred to DCR for additional consideration and to the employing agencies to implement any additional retraining."

Currently, the State of New Jersey relies on officers to report when private police training is improper, but OSC's supplemental report shows this strategy is ineffective. Among the findings:

- At least 32 New Jersey police departments and agencies were repeat customers spending funds on Street Cop Training even after officers attended the 2021 Conference, where the presentations were riddled with discriminatory, harassing, and lewd remarks, among other problematic content. (Street Cop Training's CEO has previously said that the 2021 conference was "standard fare" for the company.)
- Internal company records indicated that Street Cop was willing to help officers hide their attendance at courses/events or their involvement as instructors. In one instance, an active New Jersey State Police trooper requested to continue to sell his on-demand courses without it being advertised on the company website to "avoid any scrutiny" from New Jersey.
- Internal records show multiple police departments and agencies, including an agency that operates in New Jersey, requested case law or other materials from Street Cop to help defend officers from lawsuits, OSC found.

Dear SGT. Smith, Wade,

Subject: Re: OPRA Request 1962 – Fee Dispute and Access to Oath of Office

I am writing in response to your communication regarding the fee for access to body-worn camera footage and the denial of my request for the complete Oath of Office documents.

1. Regarding the Fee for Body-Worn Camera Footage:

The imposed fee of $267.78 for the processing of 153 minutes of footage seems excessively high and potentially prohibitive. Supreme Court case law supports the notion that such fees should not be unreasonable or burdensome. In multiple rulings, the Court has emphasized that access to public records and transparency should not be hindered by excessive fees. Therefore, I kindly request a detailed breakdown of these charges and ask for reconsideration to ensure that the fee reflects only the reasonable direct cost of producing the footage.

2. Regarding the Oath of Office:

I must contest the decision to classify the Oath of Office as personal information. An Oath of Office is a public declaration of a public servant's commitment to uphold the law and serve the community. As such, it does not qualify as personal information under NJSA 47:1A-1.1 or any other statute. It is a document that is inherently public and should be readily accessible to the citizens whom the officeholder has sworn to serve. I respectfully request that you provide the full document as per the stipulations of the Open Public Records Act (OPRA).

I appreciate your attention to these matters and look forward to your prompt and favorable resolution. Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

X (Devon Tyler of the Barber-Materio Family)

X (Devon Tyler of the Barber-Materio Family) May 17, 2024

Thank you for your response and for providing the names, titles, and dates of the oaths of office for the officers listed.

However, I would like to clarify and reiterate my request for the full copies of the oaths of office. According to N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1.1, specifically under the Open Public Records Act (OPRA), the statute states:

> "Any copy of an oath of allegiance, oath of office or any affirmation taken upon assuming the duties of any public office, or that oath or affirmation, taken by a current or former officer or employee in any public office or position in this State or in any county or municipality of this State, including members of the Legislative Branch, Executive Branch, Judicial Branch, and all law enforcement entities, except that the full name, title, and oath date of that person contained therein shall not be deemed confidential."

This section of the statute clearly indicates that the full copy of the oath of office itself is not confidential, except for the full name, title, and oath date, which must be disclosed.

Therefore, I respectfully request that you provide the full copies of the oaths of office for the officers and agents listed below:

1. Officer Stephen Boyd - Oath Date: 1/2/2020
2. Sergeant Craig Clayton - Oath Date: 9/18/2006
3. Officer Samantha Liepe - Oath Date: 7/31/2023
4. Special Officer Arthur Train - Oath Date: 9/25/2013
5. Detective Lawrence Murray - Oath Date: 7/15/2013
6. Officer John McColgan - Oath Date: 7/29/2019

I appreciate your attention to this matter and look forward to receiving the requested documents. Please let me know if there are any additional steps I need to take or if there are any concerns regarding this request.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Dear SGT Smith, Wade and Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to address the municipal corporation's charge for providing public records in response to my recent OPRA request for body-worn camera footage from the incident at 4620 Black Horse Pike, Mays Landing, New Jersey on May 7, 2024.

I firmly believe that this charge is absurd, burdensome, and unfair. It is unconstitutional for me to have to pay to review evidence that pertains to the violation of my rights. Public records should be accessible to all citizens without imposing financial barriers that prevent individuals from accessing information critical to their cases or understanding their legal standing.

According to the principles of public service, municipal employees are sworn to serve the public. Charging exorbitant fees for access to public records contradicts this principle and undermines transparency and accountability in government operations. Furthermore, the costs outlined in the 14-point analysis provided are excessive and do not justify the financial burden placed on a citizen seeking justice.

The argument that significant resources are needed for redaction and review is unconvincing, given the technological capabilities available today. Advanced software can expedite these processes, reducing both the time and cost involved. Additionally, many of the requested records have already been segregated and should be readily accessible without extensive manual labor.

Moreover, I cannot afford to pay these fees as requested. Bills and financial obligations cannot resolve themselves; therefore, placing such a financial strain on an individual seeking justice is not only impractical but also unjust [Article 1, Section 10, Clause 1 of the United States Constitution, 12 U.S.C. 411, and 18 U.S.C. 8].

I respectfully request that the municipal corporation reconsider the imposition of these charges and provide the requested records without redaction and without additional cost. This request aligns with the principles of public service and the constitutional rights of citizens to access information held by the government.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I look forward to a prompt and fair resolution.

Truly,

X (Devon Tyler of the Barber-Materio Family)
